

Urban by nature

With an unmistakable emphasis on healthy living and connections to nature, the community of Walden is a model of low-impact urban development.

Inspired by the simplicity of nature, Walden celebrates and honours the landscape it graces. Parks, open spaces, wetlands and a ribbon of trails promote walking and biking while helping to preserve this peaceful setting at the edge of Calgary's burgeoning south.

Aspiring to purchase your first home? Ready for something bigger...or something smaller? Walden includes broad mix of residential products, from single-family and semi-detached homes to townhomes and condominiums – all united by distinctively original architecture that coexists peacefully with the community's natural setting. The established amenities of neighbouring Lake Chaparral further enhance Walden's appeal.

Act fast to secure your home in Walden – a lively urban community that lets you live, work and play, and the ideal choice for anyone seeking city comforts in a place where nature reigns supreme.
